Well, I've been kicking around this life for nigh on 58 years,

I swear it's been one heckuva ride, I think I've conquered my fears,

Then someone asked me if I could sing, a religious song or two

That's when I realized this life takes more than one man can do

(They told me if--)

It got explained to me that God was in everything I touch

That God had found a way to find me, but did it matter that much?

I got handed a mirror, told to take a look, I wondered what it was about

They said that face you see is the face of God, struggling to get out!

I thanked my friends for all their help, and I set out on my way,

And I thank the Lord for giving me life, every single day

But the thought still dwells upon my mind as I say my little prayer,

If I didn't know now what I didn't know then, God would still find a way to care!
